A new edition of the Dictionary of National Biography, the nation's standard biographical reference work, is being prepared at the University of Oxford. The original work will be revised and new biographies added to show the importance of scientists, engineers, popular entertainers, sportspeople, business people, labour activists, women and others whose contribution to national life was not fully recognized in the first edition.

SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY
DEAN
MEADOWS SCHOOL OF THE ARTS

Southern Methodist University invites nominations and applications for the position of Dean of the Meadows School of Arts.

The University and School:

Southern Methodist University is a private liberal arts university of approximately 8,900 students, offering baccalaureate degrees in almost 70 programs and a variety of graduate and professional degrees through six graduate and professional schools.

The Meadows School of the Arts is recognized as one of the nation’s premier arts schools, with seven instructional units: Art, Art History, Arts Administration, Communication Arts (advertising, cinema, journalism, public relations, television/radio), Dance, Music, and Theatre. Within a single complex are housed the Meadows Museum of Spanish Art, three theatres, two recital halls, and the Hamon Arts Library. There are 102 full-time and 57 part-time faculty, and 81 full and part-time staff members serving 1,375 undergraduate and graduate majors.

Qualifications:

In providing leadership for the School, the successful candidate should be able to promote creativity and scholarship, work collegially with a diverse faculty and staff, and should be an effective advocate for the School to the University administration and to outside constituencies. The Dean should be knowledgeable about a broad spectrum of the arts and communications in an academic setting, with an understanding of the intellectual content and character of the disciplines. University teaching, administrative experience, and fund raising abilities are essential. Experience in managing and understanding a multi-million dollar budget is mandatory. Candidates should also demonstrate continuing artistic and/or scholarly achievements appropriate to a distinguished appointment at the rank of full professor.

Responsibilities:

The Meadows School of Arts is administered by the Dean with the assistance of associate and assistant deans, academic division chairs, and an executive council. The Dean is responsible for the budget of the Meadows School, for long-term planning of all kinds, including curricular planning; for relationships between the Meadows School, the other schools, and the administration of the University and with the community; for planning and implementing fund raising initiatives; for appointment and review of faculty and administrative staff; and above all for creating an interdisciplinary atmosphere which is conducive to good teaching, to the pursuit of artistic and scholarly activities, and to the role of the liberal arts in the education of artists and scholars. The Dean reports to the Provost of the University, and through her to the President.

Application deadline is January 15, 1994. Salary is competitive; expected starting date is July 1, 1994. Send applications or nominations with appropriate support materials to Dr. David H. Blake, Chair, Dean’s Search Committee for Meadows School of the Arts, Cox School of Business, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas 75275. Southern Methodist University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, sex, or disability.

To meet the needs of dance scientists, dance medicine specialists, and dance educators, Impulse publishes the latest in original research articles and scholarly review articles on dance and dance-related issues. Scholars and practitioners alike will find this a unique reference that addresses a wide range of important dance topics.

Impulse is divided into seven sections:

Original Research presents dance-related scholarly research in such areas as biomechanics, physiology, cultural studies, psychology, motor learning, medicine, therapy, curriculum development, and education.

Professional Applications includes case studies, and reports of educational strategies and teaching techniques based on the integration of research and experience as they apply to dance.

Scholarly Reviews publishes analyses of current thought in all areas of dance science, medicine, and education.

Forum features essays and commentaries on pertinent issues in dance science, medicine, and education.

Bulletin Board includes reports of previous conferences, preliminary reports of research projects, and other news items of interest to the dance community.

Access presents abstracts of recently published articles from other fields that are relevant to dance.

Media Review contains reviews of books, journals, audio and videotapes, and software related to dance.

ACTIVITIES
The Society provides a forum for the presentation, discussion and publication of dance research. To this end it organises events and publishes a Journal and a newsletter.

Events
The Society holds regular events for the presentation of the findings of dance research and for their discussion. These include the presentation of papers, lectures, demonstrations and research seminars.

Newsletter
The Society’s regular newsletter is published to disseminate information about current research, members’ research interests and the Society’s activities. Information for inclusion should be sent to the Newsletter Editor, 9 Cecil Court, London WC2N 4EZ

Meetings
The Society’s business is conducted at general meetings which are open to members.

THE RUNNING OF THE SOCIETY
The Society is managed by an elected Committee which includes four honorary officers. Elections are held annually and Individual, Student and Corporate (one delegate) members are entitled to vote.

MEMBERSHIP
The Society’s subscription year begins on January 1st. There are four main types of membership.

Individual Membership: Individual members receive one copy of each issue of the Journal and a copy of each issue of the newsletter.
